These data include those cases where there was a finding in delinquency and No previous Time Wavier had been given. These data are Bernalillo County only, however, could be petitioned from another county.

Court Disposition when the Judgement was Probation

With no Time Waiver

Type of Supervision with Probation

Of those 69% that were formally supervised:

Level of Supervision with Probation

*12 incidences of ethnicity were not reported for Minimum Supervision. These data are not included in the graph.

*16 incidences of ethnicity were not reported for Medium Supervision

*37 incidences of ethnicity were not reported for Maximum Supervision

*2 incidences of ethnicity were not reported for Intense Supervision

The above graph reveals something very interesting. It was stated and shown above that Hispanics on average commit low-level offense at a higher rate while Caucasians an average commit higher-lever offenses at a lower rate. This lends to the over-representation of minority contact and the issue of inequitable treatment in the juvenile justice system. Why are minorities being monitored at higher levels than any other group if they are indeed committing low-level offenses? Follow-up assessments need to unpack and replicate these results.
